The Lighthouse report shows the following scores for your website: * Performance: 28 out of 100 - This means that there is room for improvement in terms of how fast your website loads, which can affect user experience and search engine rankings. * Accessibility: 82 out of 100 - This score indicates that the site is generally accessible to users with disabilities, but there are still some areas that could be improved to ensure a better experience for all users. * SEO (Search Engine Optimization): 63 out of 100 - This means that your website has some optimization issues that could impact its visibility and ranking on search engines. * Best practices: 100 out of 100 - This indicates that your website follows the best web development practices, which is a good sign for maintaining a high level of performance and user experience. In summary, while your website's overall score is relatively strong in terms of following best practices, there are still some areas where it can be improved to increase its speed, accessibility, and search engine visibility. It may be helpful to work with a web developer or SEO specialist to address these issues and optimize the performance and functionality of your site.
