The Lighthouse report provides scores across four areas to evaluate the quality of your website: 1. Performance (85): This score indicates that your site's load time and responsiveness could be slightly faster, making it more enjoyable for users to navigate. 2. Accessibility (88): Your site has a great score in this category, meaning it is largely friendly for people with various abilities, including those using assistive technologies. 3. SEO (63): This score suggests that your website could benefit from some improvements in Search Engine Optimization (SEO). By making these adjustments, you can help your site rank higher on search engines like Google, making it easier for new visitors to find your content. 4. Best practices (100): Excellent news! Your website follows all recommended best practices, ensuring that it operates smoothly and securely for everyone. Overall, the Lighthouse report highlights some opportunities to enhance your website's speed, SEO, and user experience, making it more efficient and engaging for visitors.
